

CASE STUDY

A financial services company switched to Thrive to manage its Azure environment to improve business operations.

CHALLENGE

Financial services data analytics and thought leadership company needed to improve the management of its Azure environment with its current managed services provider (MSP). The company's workloads had scaled to a range that the MSP could no longer support, which resulted in overages and frustration.

SOLUTION

Thrive is now providing the financial service company with a new managed Azure environment that features an assortment of Cloud computing services, including hybrid Cloud management and remotely hosted and managed versions of Microsoft technologies. The company selected Thrive's Managed Azure solution because of its simplicity, functionality and competitive advantages. The Thrive team now handles the management and security with the latest Azure-based firewalls and web application firewalls with multi-factor authentication to improve workload efficiency.

RESULT

Thrive's Managed Azure solution and management of workloads was a game changer in enhancing business operations for the financial services firm. As a result of Thrive's robust suite of managed services and 24x7 technical support, the financial firm has confidence and peace of mind for managing workloads and mitigating risk while meeting regulatory requirements.
